Manding Jata

Sunday, April 18, 2010

3:00 p.m. Beasley Coliseum

Enjoy the music, dance and oral traditions of the Mande speaking peoples of West Africa. Much of the music and dance repertoire comes from the 13th and 15th centuries. The primary instruments featured are the Kora (21 string harp / lute), Bamana and Mandinka xylophones, flutes and the djembe / dununba drum ensemble. Energetic and athletic, these West African performers will astound you with this entertaining performance of their rich African culture.
